ABOUT WORDS TO DEEDS

Mission

The leaders in criminal justice and mental health participating in this effort strive to end the criminalization of individuals with mental illness by supporting proven strategies that promote early intervention, access to effective treatments, a planned reentry and the preservation of public safety.

Vision

A true shift in the paradigm between criminal justice and mental health will embody an effective jail diversion system that fosters a successful and ongoing exchange of information among courts, criminal justice agencies, mental health professions, governmental agencies, and nongovernmental organizations, to achieve a substantial positive change in the way individuals with mental illness are treated within our communities.

Words to Deeds XIV – The Paradigm Awards

In January 2013, Words to Deeds inaugurated the Paradigm Awards, recognizing leaders in criminal justice and mental health who promote efforts to end criminalization of individuals with mental illness by supporting proven strategies that advocate for early intervention, access to effective treatments, a planned reentry, and the preservation of public safety.

This year, the Paradigm Awards is on hiatus until we can celebrate in person. We have included a list of all past Paradigm Award recipients in our program for your review.

So today, we share a Words to Deeds “Silver Lining.” It is the opportunity to once again salute past Paradigm Awards Honorees who are participating in Words to Deeds XIV today. They are:

- Hon. Jim Beall – Legislative Champion – 2015 – California State Senator, 15th Senate District; Chair – Senate Select Committee on Mental Health
- Hon. Bill Brown – State Champion – 2016 – Sheriff Coroner, Santa Barbara County; Past President, California State Sheriffs’ Association; Commissioner, California Mental Health Services Oversight and Accountability Commission

- Dave Meyer – Lifetime Achievement – 2013 – Clinical Professor, Institute of Psychiatry, Law & Behavioral Sciences, USC Keck School of Medicine

SPEAKER BIOGRAPHIES

Jim Beall

Born in San Jose, Jim Beall is a lifelong resident of the city. Working in the fields picking crops as a teenager, Jim learned the true value of hard work, a day's labor, and the value of every dollar. Having parents who stressed the importance of quality education, Jim graduated from Bellarmine College Preparatory and then went on to earn his degree in Political Science from San Jose State University. At the age of 24, Jim served on the San Jose City Planning Commission and, at age 28, he became the youngest person ever to be elected to the San Jose City Council. In four decades of public service – first, as a San Jose City Councilman, then as a Santa Clara County Supervisor, Legislator in the Assembly and Senate, Senator Beall has left his mark across Silicon Valley and beyond. His landmark legislation includes the passage of SB 1 (2017) which increased road safety and repair funding in the State by $5.4B annually while creating over 150,000 new jobs. Additionally, the passage of SB 595 (2017) provided transportation funding for regional projects in the SF Bay Area. Together, SB 1 and SB 595 financed urgently needed improvements, including a comprehensive Bay Area traffic relief plan, new BART cars, additional HOV lanes, and road and safety repairs throughout the State. The measures will fund several vital projects in Santa Clara County over the next two decades, including Caltrain's electrification from Gilroy to San Francisco, construction of the Eastridge light rail extension, expansion of the Diridon Station, and over $2B for the BART to San Jose extension. Additionally, Senator Jim Beall advocated to increase access to mental health services in California. The passage of SB 803 (2020) created a statewide Peer Support Certification and Training program to expand and diversify our mental health workforce; while SB 192 (2018) created the Mental Health Services Fund which channeled unspent funds from the Mental Health Services Act to local mental health programs and services. Furthermore, to reduce deadly encounters between police and people with a mental illness or intellectual disability, Beall's SB 11 and SB 29 (2015) doubled the number of required mental health training hours in the Police Academy and increased mental health training for all Field Training Officers in charge of training police officers after they leave the Academy. Importantly, these bills required all training to be culturally appropriate. Beall's a lifelong champion and advocate for healthcare, underserved youth, low-income families, foster youth, mental health, and equity for the disabled. His work upgrading transportation infrastructure, and nurturing green energy while preserving open spaces will benefit the greater region for centuries to come.

When he manages to have a few spare moments to himself, Jim likes to read (generally non-fiction related to policy issues), hike, and hunt for stones that fuel his hobby, lapidary. He and his wife, Pat, have been married for more than 30 years, and live in San Jose's Cambrian district. Senator Jim Beall has two stepsons.

Bill Brown

Bill Brown has served as Santa Barbara County's Sheriff-Coroner since January 9, 2007. He was first elected on November 7, 2006, re-elected to a second term in June 2010, re-elected to a third term in June 2014, and re-elected yet again to a fourth term in June 2018. Sheriff Brown began his law enforcement career in 1977 with the Pacifica Police Department in the San Francisco Bay Area. In 1980, he transferred to the Inglewood Police Department. He served the Los Angeles County community until 1992, when he was selected as chief of police for the City of Moscow, Idaho. In that position, he was responsible for overseeing police operations for both the City of Moscow and the University of Idaho. In 1995, Brown was selected as Chief of Police for the City of Lompoc, being only the eighth person to hold the title of police chief in that community since it incorporated in 1899. He led the Lompoc Police Department for the next 11 years until being elected to his present office. Sheriff Brown received his Master's Degree in Public Administration from the University of Southern California in 1995. He was president of the 91st Class of Delinquency Control Institute, and is a graduate of the Northwest Command College, the 169th Session of the FBI National Academy, and the 33rd Session of the FBI National Executive Institute. Since 2010, he has served as a Commissioner on the Mental Health Services Oversight and Accountability Commission for the State of California, and he leads Santa Barbara County's version of "Stepping Up," a National Initiative to Reduce the Number of People with Mental Illness in Jails. Sheriff Brown is also Chairman of the Santa Barbara County Law Enforcement Chiefs (C.L.E.C). Sheriff Brown and his wife, Donna have been happily married for 40 years and have three grown children.

Corrin Buchanan

Corrin Buchanan serves as the Assistant Director of Housing and Homelessness for the California Department of Social Services (CDSS). Before joining CDSS, Corrin worked for the Los Angeles County Department of Health Services (LADHS) where she served as the Deputy Director for the Office of Diversion and Reentry and was responsible for diverting individuals with mental disorders away from the criminal justice system and into community-based treatment and permanent supportive housing. She also worked for Housing for Health at LADHS where she launched and managed the Flexible Housing Subsidy Pool, a locally funded rental subsidy program. Corrin also worked as a Health Program Planner for Housing and Urban Health at the San Francisco Department of Public Health and as the Community Programs Director for the San Francisco Women's Building. Corrin holds a Bachelor's Degree and a Master's Degree in Public Policy from University of California, Berkeley.

Chandra Crawford

Chandra Crawford is the Director of Individual Homeless Adults at the National Alliance to End Homelessness, with a focus on racial equity. Prior to joining the Alliance, she worked at Gilead Sciences and developed an evidence-based HIV screening initiative in two southern states heavily impacted by the epidemic. Chandra also served as the Policy Director at UNITY of Greater New Orleans, the HUD-designated Continuum of Care, where she successfully led an initiative to secure 3,000 permanent supportive housing vouchers from Congress for poor and disabled residents in the State of Louisiana. In this role she was also instrumental in the creation of a statewide office designated to coordinate homelessness services and the reestablishment of the Louisiana Interagency Council on Homelessness. Chandra is proud to note that her first legislative victory was the enactment of a five-year pilot needle exchange program in the State of Delaware while she was the Policy Coordinator at the Delaware HIV Consortium. Chandra earned her Ph.D. in Public Policy from Purdue University.

John Engstrom

John is an attorney that has been advocating for improving health, income, and housing for low-income people for nearly 17 years. John has designed major initiatives that improve income and housing for disabled Alameda County residents, reduce recidivism for Alameda County residents with mental illness, and programs that provide gainful employment for people with lived-experience in the mental health and criminal justice systems. John also has done a great deal of work improving access to care for low-income residents of Alameda County. John currently works as the Quality Improvement (QI) Manager for Alameda County Behavioral Health (ACBH). Prior to leading the QI team, John managed the Decision Support team at Alameda County Behavioral Health providing data and policy analysis. He served as a Senior Analyst on the Decision Support Team prior to managing it. Prior to his work at Behavioral Health Care, John worked in public interest legal services providing disability, public benefits, and policy advocacy at the East Bay Community Law Center, Alameda County Homeless Action Center, and the Law Foundation of Silicon Valley.

Cullen Fowler-Riggs

Cullen Fowler-Riggs is a Health Program Specialist II in the Office of Health Equity (OHE) at the California Department of Public Health (CDPH). Cullen serves as the Lead of the California Reducing Disparities Project (CRDP). He is also the interim LGBTQ Population Lead and Contract Manager, a role he has held since the 2016. Cullen has been with the state for over ten years, formerly serving as a HIV Surveillance Coordinator for the CDPH, Office of AIDS, and as an Unemployment and Disability Insurance Program Analyst for the Employment Development Department. Cullen's public service career began in 2005 at the City of Stockton as an Assistant to the Grants Manager, where he helped secure funding for citywide projects focused on improving the social determinates of health. It was in this role that Cullen developed a passion for helping unserved/under-served communities through authentic community engagement and a shared vision of success to secure grant funding for programs and projects aimed at improving the lives of the diverse residents of Stockton. Cullen holds a Bachelor's Degree in Communications from California State University, Sacramento and a Master's Degree in Public Health in Epidemiology from the University of South Florida, Tampa. In his free time, he enjoys gardening, cooking, reading, and traveling with his partner.

Alex Gleghorn, PhD

Alice Gleghorn, PhD is a clinical psychologist who began her career in HIV prevention research with injection drug users in Baltimore at the Johns Hopkins University School of Hygiene and Public Health. She enjoyed 19.5 years at the San Francisco Department of Public Health prior to becoming Director of the Santa Barbara County Department of Behavioral Wellness in 2014. At SFDPH she established pioneering harm reduction policies and programs that have been honored as national models for overdose prevention and opiate treatment. Building on her research background, she established and promoted evidence-based practices including: Criminal Justice Diversion, Mental Health/Law Enforcement Crisis Co-Response, Drug Overdose Prevention and Education (DOPE- including Naloxone distribution), Treatment On Demand, Office Based Opiate Treatment (OBOT) program, Mobile Methadone Van, Outpatient Buprenorphine Induction Clinic (OBIC), Integrated Buprenorphine Intervention Services, and the integrated Behavioral Health Access Center. In both counties, she oversaw the development of multiple supportive housing strategies for behavioral health clients ranging from 5 to 90 units. She has worked closely with pharmacists to expand knowledge and integrated approaches to behavioral health care and has partnered with many CBO providers and faith-based organizations in ensuring equitable access to care. She obtained more than 30 federal, state or foundation grants to implement, evaluate and disseminate innovative practices benefitting under-served and difficult to reach individuals experiencing homelessness, HIV risks, legal issues, mental illness, or substance dependence. Colleagues, community, and advocates have recognized her accomplishments with the Public Policy Leadership (SFMHA) and Community Service (CSAM) awards, and she was honored as the 2016 AATOD

“Marie” Award recipient for outstanding contributions to opiate treatment.

Susan Holt

Susan Holt is a Licensed Marriage and Family Therapist and lifelong resident of Fresno County. She currently serves as the Deputy Director of Clinical Operations for Fresno County Department of Behavioral Health, a role which affords her an opportunity to leverage diverse professional experiences to improve the public behavioral health system in the community she loves so dearly. Susan’s diverse clinical experience includes providing treatment in residential programs, schools, outpatient clinics, mobile crisis response teams, and inpatient psychiatric care settings. As her career progressed, she was inspired by the people whom she served to shift her focus toward system of care improvements, particularly for the most vulnerable populations. This ultimately led her into management in behavioral health. Her passion in behavioral health leadership is to cultivate strengths within teams and across sectors to create and enhance environments that promote well-being, resilience, and recovery. Susan is a graduate of California State University, Fresno, where she received her Bachelor’s Degree in Health Science and her Master’s Degree in Counseling. In 2013 she returned to CSU, Fresno, as a part-time faculty member teaching courses in counseling and psychopathology. She views this additional role as an opportunity to give back to the profession and to inspire the next generation of helping professionals to embrace concepts of recovery, person-centered care, cultural humility, cross-sector collaboration, and community-based service models.

Tamera Kohler

Tamera Kohler is Chief Executive Officer (CEO) of the Regional Task Force on the Homeless (RTFH). RTFH is a unique non-profit serving San Diego County as the U.S. Housing and Urban Development (HUD) Continuum of Care (CoC). Since joining RTFH in October 2017, Ms. Kohler has transformed the RTFH and lead the effort to overhaul and change vendors of the HMIS system and improve the PITC to be a fully engaged, person-centered effort using mobile technology with over 1600+ volunteers. Ms. Kohler is recognized as a Subject Matter Expert on homeless systems and solutions and has assembled a nationally recognized leadership group to lead and support efforts in all jurisdictions within the county to make homelessness rare, brief, and non-recurring. Ms. Kohler served as a lead partner and strategist on developing San Diego City’s plan to address homelessness. Most recently, Ms. Kohler led the strategy in addressing the public health pandemic and initiated the largest congregate shelter in the country, located at the Convention Center, to serve nearly 1200 unsheltered homeless individuals to prevent and reduce the spread of COVID-19. Ms. Kohler joined the RTFH after serving as Division Director of Homeless Strategy and Investment of the City of Seattle’s Human Services Department. There she oversaw 45 employees, a $58 million budget, the implementation of a new homeless strategy and structured a competitive grant application process for the Division for the first time in over 10 years. Prior to that she spent over 8 years helping to lead the nationally noted homelessness reduction programs for the State of Utah. She served Utah as the Assistant Division Director of Housing and Community Development (HCD) in the Department of Workforce Services overseeing federal and state funding and strategic planning for CSBG, CDBG, HOPWA, HOME, LIHEP, WAP, EITC, FEMA, TANF, the State housing loan fund, State homeless trust fund and the Emergency Food Network that supported all food pantries in the state. She also staffed the Lt. Governors Homeless Committee with all department heads on the Board and oversaw the Community Impact Board fund of state mineral rights resources. Ms. Kohler has served on national committees and panels and was Vice President of the NASCSP board in 2015. Ms. Kohler has over 20 years of senior leadership experience serving in state and local governments specializing in poverty, homeless, non-profit, and private mortgage lending. She is well known and respected at national, state, and local levels in community engagement, contracting, and the data-driven systems critical to achieve both measurable results and ensure resources are being allocated wisely. Ms. Kohler is an effective change agent with critical, big picture system level planning expertise, and brings a unique connection and network to the highest level of national leaders in homelessness.

Stephen Manley

Judge Manley is a Superior Court Judge in Santa Clara County and has served as a Judge for over 30 years. He presently serves as the Supervising Judge of all Felony and Misdemeanor mental health and drug cases in the Criminal Division of the Court.
